COLLEGE OF CHARLESTON
FUN FACTS

The original spirit colors for the College were light blue and white, but were changed in the early 20th century when the athletics program began competing against The Citadel, which had the same colors.

The seal of the College was adopted by the Board of Trustees in 1843 and has two Latin phrases, “Knowledge itself is Liberty” and “She Protects Her Temples, Customs, and Rights”.

College of Charleston became the nation’s first municipal college when trusteeship of the institution moved to Charleston City Council in 1837.

The oldest bricks on the College’s campus are found at Towell Library. The foundation of the building was part of barracks used during the Revolutionary War.

The nation’s first museum was originally housed on the third floor of Randolph Hall before it was moved to Rutledge Avenue at Cannon Park in 1907.
